

As I stand on the eve of publishing this book, my foremost aspiration is to extend and share my joy with you. I hope you find something of value inside these chapters. I believe you will. And I appreciate your being here.

Perhaps, you'll soon be on your way to discovering where I hid the five treasure boxes. Or maybe you'll prefer to stay at home and never go look. Either way, I believe if you are open to it, this book may help you become a wiser treasure hunter in the ways that matter to you. And that could lead to bountiful riches, both inside and out.

Yours in the hunt,

JON COLLINS-BLACK

This is a picture of some of our treasure.

